

Application for Scholarship for RMSS 2022

Name: _____

Address: _____

City: _____ State: _____ Zip _____

Email: _____ Phone: _____

The Rocky Mountain Star Stare is the premier amateur astronomical event in the Rocky Mountains. The annual event attracts both amateur and professional astronomers from across the country. The 2022 RMSS event will be held June 22th – 26th, 2022 at Starry Meadows, near Gardner, Colorado.

The RMSS scholarship is available to all Pikes Peak Community College students (current and former) that have enrolled in an astronomy course (101, 102 & 155) within the last two years.

PPCC astronomy courses: (Class/Term/Campus/Instructor)

_____ / _____ / _____ / _____

The RMSS scholarship will provide one registration, one T-shirt, and a $100 stipend to cover fuel and other food costs.

Check out RMSS at <https://rmss.org/>. This four-night dry camping event is held under some of the darkest skies in the United States. There are very few facilities available at the site, so you will need to make arrangements for appropriate camping supplies. Please talk to your instructor about any such needs before applying.

Applications must be received no later than May 25, 2022. Return completed application forms to your instructor or directly to director@RMSS.org. Applicants should expect award of scholarship to be announced no later than June 1, 2022. Winners will be notified by email and postings on the RMSS.org/news blog.

Name: _____

1. What are your main astronomical interests?

2. What do you think are the most interesting questions in astronomy today?

3. What is your own background in astronomy and observing?

4. What are your specific goals if selected for RMSS? Do you have any specific observation goals or plans?

5. Why should you be selected?
